

Acquisition

Course directors may obtain the ~1000 virtual slide set of Histology and Histopathology digital image files displayed in these collections for the purpose of serving them from their own server. The individual slide files are up to 500MB each and 300GB total. They are in a non-proprietary file format, which can be easily converted to a variety of other file formats.

Send inquiries to Fred R Dee, MD (fred-dee@uiowa.edu), or ask your virtual slide (whole slide) server/viewer vendor.

If you wish to receive a complete set of the slide files directly from us, or via your vendor, we will ask you to sign a release agreeing that:

- You may only distribute the images to members of your institution via a password protected internet site or intranet.
- Although we have permission from the glass slide contributors to distribute their slide content as virtual slides; if they are used in a manner other than described herein, you understand that the University of Iowa makes no warranty or representation of any kind regarding the virtual slide files, including no warranty or representation that the virtual slide files will not infringe the copyright, patent or other intellectual property rights of third parties.
- Use and licensing any serving and viewing software that you use for distribution of the slide set will be the responsibility of you, the recipient.
- In special circumstances, single images and derivatives of them may be used or distributed beyond the individual's institution via removable media or on the internet, but only after receiving written consent of the University of Iowa Department of Pathology.
- On receipt of the slides files, you will pay a one-time $350 fee to the University of Iowa for processing and handling. The slides themselves are free of charge.

Copyright

The virtual slide, gross, radiological, and other images and content in the Virtual Slidebox are the intellectual property of the University of Iowa Department of Pathology and the individual contributor, who can be identified for each slide by using the Info icon in the Biolucida Cloud view of the slide.

Fair Use

The Slidebox internet sites and dataset of virtual slide files may be used with the following provisions:

- a. The viewable virtual slides on the Biolucida Cloud portal can be viewed and used by students and instructors as a supplement to their courses; however they should not be used as a required component of a course because:
 - We cannot guarantee continued access or adequate transmission speed.
 - We do not wish to compete with commercial vendors of virtual slide (whole slide) hardware and software.
- b. Although the content of the Slidebox web sites and dataset of virtual slide files is peer reviewed, the University of Iowa makes no warranty or representation of any kind regarding the complete accuracy and timeliness of the content, and thus any liability for an untoward outcome based on use of the content is that of the user and not the University of Iowa

Inquiries concerning interpretation of the above should be addressed to Fred R Dee, MD (fred-dee@uiowa.edu)
